Note: From 1961-1973, Hondo (nom de plume, or alias, or AKA Peter Cedarstacker) wrote a social satire column for the Comfort News. The fictional town of Cedar Creek and all of its characters eventually became the real town of Luckenbach and all of its characters (and Luckenbach has some real characters!) The MOON reserves a special corner for Peter Cedarstacker, Writer, as a corner of wit and human insight for us today.

-Becky Crouch Barrales

CEDAR CREEK CLIPPINGS

Still no rain here in Cedar Creek but the Postmaster said it thundered in Bear Creek. They have all the luck.

Me and mama walked to Luckenbach again last night and bought some flour at the post-office beer joint. Mama said she sure wished she had a car, she's tired of walkin' in tow. I told her to get a burro like me.

The Luckenbach Chamber of Commerce happens to meet that nite and there I was, not with my refreshment tub. We really meet every night at the post office but when Mrs. Wurst-bottom, president, stands up on that apricot box and waves a beer bottle, brother, the meetin' comes to order and it's very official.

We talked of women, chili and Luckenbach and while Mrs. Wurstbottom was still standin' with the beer bottle in her hand all us men became sympathizers of the "Women's Lib" movement. She smiled.

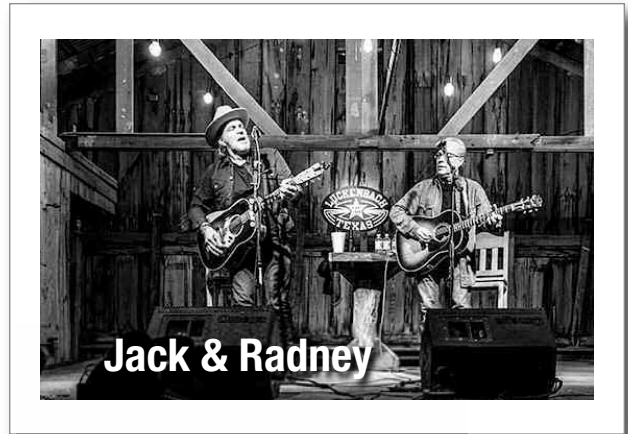

All the Luckenbach men agreed that womenfolk should have more rights like cookin' chili in a contest, scrubbin' the floors, diggin' the garden, sloppin' the hogs, guttin' the deer and milkin' the cow. They can have babies too.

What we don't like is when the women want to ride in front of the pickup. Mr. Spite spoiled his last winter. Now, every time it rains she wants to ride in from with her husband and dog.

Man has been pickin' on women ever since he figured out they weren't men, so us here in Luckenbach have decided to take up for womenfolk and let them have a place of their own to cook chili and show off where nobody'll see 'em.
