Note: From 1961-1973, Hondo (nom de plume, or alias, or AKA Peter Cedarstacker) wrote a social satire column for the Comfort News. The fictional town of Cedar Creek and all of its characters eventually became the real town of Luckenbach and all of its characters (and Luckenbach has some real characters!) The MOON reserves a special corner for Peter Cedarstacker, Writer, as a corner of wit and human insight for us today.

CEPARD CREEK CLIPPINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Gutowsky motored to Big Flat Sunday and spent with relatives or friends.

Senator Garble made a speech at the Park Side Road Saturday and all we reporters interviewed him 'bout his trip to Vietnam to stop the war. [Lenny Birmingham Jones (who likes to be called by his initials) is my actin' cub reporter while Jesus (Hey-soos) McNeil is in Mexico attendin' a funeral of another one of his dead uncles. We all hope he doesn't inherit another baby—we took the last one and one's a plenty.]

The senator gave us a blow-by-blow and sip-by-sip description of his trip from Washington to Saigon and back. He said you have no idea how bad things are over there and the country club in Hawaii is the nuts. He spent a week getting acclimated (whatever that is), he said.

"Tell us about the war," said Lenny. "Oh, it is fine," the Senator shot back, "but first I went to Japan where the emperor put me up in a castle and gave me a dozen transistor radios, "They 'r tough." He didn't say it, but a geisha girl scrubbed his back. Tee hee.

"How were the peace talks?" I asked the Senator.

"Fine, and the mayor of Saigon gave me a set of furniture that's worth $5,000 in the States and the Air Force flew it back for me free. The goin' away party was a blast."

"How can you finance a war like that?" boomed Lenny. "The cleverest way would be to rob Peter to pay Paul. Not only would that get the job done, it would make a stronger administration. Any adm. (that's short for administration to save space) that robs Peter to pay Paul will always have the support of Paul."

That's why they ain't hardly no more Peters.
