Note: From 1961-1973, Hondo (nom de plume, or alias, or AKA Peter Cedarstacker) wrote a social satire column for the Comfort News. The fictional town of Cedar Creek and all of its characters eventually became the real town of Luckenbach and all of its characters (and Luckenbach has some real characters!) The MOON reserves a special corner for Peter Cedarstacker, Writer, as a corner of wit and human insight for us today.

CEDAR CREEK CLIPPINGS

The local and personal news are scarce this week because everyone that amounts to anything is in the forest huntin' the elusive Virginia whitetail (That's deer and I learned it from a book).

I know lots 'bout huntin', but don't go much because mama, my dog and the pet pig always follow. It's kinda like takin' the County Fair with you, ferris wheel and all.

Mr. Wurstbottom, postmaster, killed the first deer, a big four point bull deer with horns.

November 11th saw everyone at the park Side Road celebratin' Veterans Day and I was with my tub on the refreshment comm (that's committee to save space).

The reason we celebrate Nov. 11 is because on that day in 1918 World War One was closed. The war to stop all wars.

We used to call that Armistice Day but the fellows in Washington changed it to Veteran's Day. Ain't we lucky?

We found out about it being a holiday when we motored to Bear Creek with Lenny Birmingham Jones to do some business. There we stood in front of the closed post office lookin' at the closed bank. But our day wasn't a total loss: we did see the time and temperature sign in front of the bank.

Armistice Day was changed to Veteran's Day to pay respects to veterans of ALL wars. If we had a holiday for each war, the banks and post offices would go broke.
