Note: From 1961-1973, Hondo (nom de plume, or alias, or AKA Peter Cedarstacker) wrote a social satire column for the Comfort News. The fictional town of Cedar Creek and all of its characters eventually became the real town of Luckenbach and all of its characters (and Luckenbach has some real characters!) The MOON reserves a special corner for Peter Cedarstacker, Writer, as a corner of wit and human insight for us today.

CEDAR CREEK CLIPPINGS

Mesdames Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Schoeffkoeter met Tuesday to lay plans for the agarita festival and take nominations for Miss Agarita '66.

Youngsters from Bear Creek spent Saturday at the Park Side Road with their bottoms and transistors turned up and layed in the sun. Some of the boys went under the bridge that crosses Cedar Creek right by the big Cyprus tree right by the big spring and wrote ugly words. When they left I sneaked and checked the place and found a Hostess Cup Cake wrapper. That puts me 2 ahead of Lenny Birmingham Jones.

Mr. Spite said the kids write words under bridges for the same reason they do many other things. They're not suppose to. I think it's just to see if they can spell 'em and to let off mean steam. They kinda feel like under a bridge no one will see 'em – and somebody might.

Mama's mama (that's my mother-in-law on my wife's side, and she always is) visited us Easter, and that's why we missed the Easter egg scramble. You see, every time she travels she bastes the pleats in her pleated dress so they won't wrinkle in the box. She started takin' 'em out at noon and finished after the scramble. There's enough pleats to go plumb around her!

Yesterday she said she'd go home if someone would fix the latch on her travelin' box. Mama basted her pleats back in and I quick fixed her box.
